Ravi Kumar of Gati bags 'CIO Hall of Fame' award

HYDERABAD: Express Distribution and Supply Chain Solutions pioneer Gati Ltd's Chief Information Officer G S Ravi Kumar was bestowed with the prestigious CIO 100 Award and CIO Hall of Fame Award at the 8th Annual CIO 100 Awards. For consistency in excellence, Ravi Kumar was felicitated with the CIO Hall of Fame Award in addition, by virtue of being the perseverant winner of the CIO 100 Award for the fourth consecutive year. He has been awarded for developing one-of-its-kind innovation in the logistics industry, which is a cost-effective mobile solution to tally the number of packages being loaded or unloaded at any given distribution centre at any given time. Mainly consisting of a tablet and a wired barcode scanner, the device scans the codes of all packages being sent or received, and alerts employees of discrepancies such as misrouted or missing packages, if any. The previous way of doing things involved a great deal of manual intervention, which made the very process cumbersome and prone to errors. But the usage of barcode scanners and tablets has increased the accuracy level to 100 per cent. On the whole, this solution has proved to be the best cost-effective way to increase efficiency and accuracy at Gati. NT

Winners By

G.S. Ravi Kumar | GATI

The Honoree: A three-time winner of the CIO 100 Award, G.S. Ravi Kumar, CIO, Gati, has a rich industry experience of over 25 years. Kumar has donned senior IT roles in various organizations throughout his career. In his 12 year long and ongoing association with the logistics leader, Kumar has implemented several effective and groundbreaking IT innovations. One of his most noteworthy contributions to the organization is the development of Gati Enterprise Management System—also known as GEMS—an ERP solution customized specifically for the cargo industry. Before taking up the IT management responsibility at Gati, he had a short stint as GM-IT at SHV Energy India.

The Winning Project: A one-of-a-kind innovation in the logistics industry, this is a cost-effective mobile solution to tally the number of packages being loaded or unloaded at any given distribution center at any given time. Mainly consisting of a tablet and a wired barcode scanner, the device scans the codes of all packages being sent or received, and alerts employees of discrepancies such as misrouted or missing packages, if any. The previous way of doing things involved a great deal of manual intervention, which made the very process cumbersome and prone to errors. But the usage of barcode scanners and tablets has increased the accuracy level to 100 percent. On the whole, this solution has proved to be the best cost-effective way to increase efficiency and accuracy at Gati.

About the Company: The facts and figures associated with Gati are enough to show the company's legacy and leadership in its market. With an annual turnover of about Rs 1,209 crore, 4,000 road vehicles, and two marine vessels in its fleet, Gati is one of the logistic leaders in the Asia-Pacific and SAARC regions. The company, which already has offices in China, Singapore, Hong Kong, Thailand, and Nepal, plans to venture into other markets as well. Over the last 24 years, Gati has introduced various novelties in the way business is done, wielding an upper hand over its competitors.
