Dutee, Hima and Anas leave a silver trail on track & field

Five silver medals on the ninth day take India to ninth spot in the overall standings

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA Jakarta/Palembang, August 26

HIMA DAS SHONE the brightest with a brand new record to her name, Muhammed Anas did enough to hold on to his status of a regional force and Dutee Chand won another battle of relevance on a jinx-breaking day for India at the Asian Games.

It was a day when India counted the silver medals, a total of five, even though there was no gold in the tally. The country took the ninth spot in the overall standings with 36 to its credit, including seven gold, 10 silver and 19 bronze medals. The 18-year-old Hima shattered the 400m national record for a second time in two days for her silver while Anas grabbed the second place in the same event for men on the day. Dutee, for long haunted by the gender dispute case that she eventually won, dug her heels for a silver in the women's 100m in a remarkable photo-finish.

The silver medals from Hima and Anas were on expected lines as the gold winners in their respective events were outright pre-race favourites. Hima clocked 50.79 seconds to win the silver, while Asian champion Anas clocked 45.69 seconds in his 400m final.

Dutee turned in a timing of 11.32 seconds.

There was major heart-break too as long distance runner Govindan Lakshmanan crossed the finishing line at third in the men's 10,000m race but was later disqualified for violating IAAF 163.3b rule on lane infringement. He was initially shown to have clocked 29:44.91.

If Hima, Anas and Dutee were the undisputed stars on the track, the equestrian team turned out to be the surprise package of the day, bagging a couple of silver medals in the eventing competition.

Fouaad Mirza became the first Indian to win an Asian Games individual equestrian medal since 1982 besides guiding the country to a second-place finish in the team competition.

Mirza won the silver medal in individual jumping with a score of 26.40, while Japan's Oiwa Yoshiaki clinched the gold with a score of 22.70.

The Indian team, comprising Rakesh Kumar, Ashish Malik and Jitender Singh apart from Mirza, also claimed the silver with a score of 121.30, the feasts coming days after their last-minute arrival owing to infighting in the Equestrian Federation of India.

The debut sport of bridge than gave India a couple of bronze medals — in the men's team and the mixed team events.

India were also assured of at least two silver medals from archery after the men's and women's compound teams advanced to the final by prevailing over Chinese Taipei in both the semifinals.

The Indian men are the defending champions and they lived up to their reputation by getting the better of Chinese Taipei 230-227 in an edge-of-the-seat semifinal.

The trio of Abhishek Verma, Aman Saini and Rajat Chauhan were slow to get off the blocks before getting their act together to prevail 57-57, 56-57, 55-58, 59-58 in the four-set encounter.

The Indian men will play powerhouse South Korea in a repeat of the 2014 Incheon Asiad title clash.

Earlier in the day, the Indian women's compound team bettered its previous edition's performance by entering the summit clash, where it will also face South Korea.

The team, comprising Jyothi Surekha, Madhumita Kumari and Muskan Kira, too, edged out Chinese Taipei 225-222 in another thrilling.

Among other good results, India's defending champion men's hockey team continued its unbeaten run and beat South Korea 5-3 in a pool match to storm into the semi-finals.

India scored through Rupinder Pal Singh (1st minute), Chinglensana Singh (4th), Lalit Upadhyay (15th), Manpreet Singh (49th) and Akashdeep Singh (55th), while Korea's goals came from the sticks of Manjae Jung (33rd, 35th) and Jonghyun Jang (59th).

On the badminton court, Olympic medallists PV Sindhu and Saina Nehwal headed for a gold medal showdown after their quarterfinal victories ensured India's first ever women's singles medals at the continental event.

First it was Saina, who locked at least a bronze following a 21-18, 21-16 win over world number five Ratchanok Intanon in a 42-minute quarterfinal. Sindhu then fought past world number 12 Nitchaon Jindapol 21-11, 16-21, 21-14 in the other quarterfinal.

However, the golfers finished seventh at the men's team event. India, who were second and in contention for a medal at the halfway stage of the tournament, came a cropper on the third day when none of the four players could register a sub-par round.

The same happened on the final day and it was curtains for them.

India's shooting campaign at the Games also ended on a disappointing note after four skeet participants failed to qualify for the finals in Palembang.

Sheeraz Sheikh and Angad Vir Singh Bajwa finished 13th and 14th respectively on day two of the qualification, failing to make the finals with scores of 120 and 119.

Irresponsible company directors face fines under new UK rules

The UK government said it will move forward with plans to punish directors who fail to safeguard their workers from the effects of a company's bankruptcy. New powers announced Sunday will be given to the UK Insolvency Service, including the ability to issue fines or even disqualifications to company bosses if they are found to have tried to avoid paying a dissolved company's debts. — BLOOMBERG

Alphabet's China return plans go beyond Google search

THE NEW YORK TIMES
Beijing, August 26

GOOGLE HAS FACED sharp criticism, including from its own employees, for its efforts to rebuild an internet search presence in China after quitting the country eight years ago over censorship issues.

But for Google's corporate parent, Alphabet, the opportunities in the world's largest internet market may be too good to resist. And the full scope of the company's interest in China now appears to be broader than just internet search.

The latest hint came from Waymo, the driverless-car company that was spun out of Google in 2016. Chinese media noticed this week that the business had quietly registered a Shanghai subsidiary in May, suggesting that it wants a piece of an industry that the Chinese government has made a priority.

Other recent steps that Google has taken in China include opening a research centre and promoting its software tools to developers.

In artificial intelligence and other areas in which Alphabet is seeking to advance the technological frontier, China today is more than just the planet's biggest audience of internet users. It is an ecosystem of sophisticated potential business partners, talent and tech-hungry customers from which tomorrow's innovations could emerge.

Other American tech giants have made their peace in various ways with Beijing's strictures and conditions for operating in the country. Unlike Google, Apple runs its own app store in China, heeding government directives about the kinds of apps that can be available to Chinese users. Microsoft and Amazon offer cloud computing services, working with local partners and following strict controls on how customers' data is stored.

Alphabet's investments in future technologies make it particularly important for the company to get a foot into China early. Driverless cars have prompted regulatory and political debate, which means starting sooner could help reduce Chinese authorities' concerns. More time in China for Waymo also means more experience on Chinese roads for its cars, and more data collected on the country's driving environment.

"I think they've realised that developing in the United States won't produce a car that will work in China," said Gansha Wu, the chief executive and a co-founder of Uisee, an autonomous vehicle start-up in Beijing. "The road conditions are totally different."

A Google spokeswoman said the company did not have a comment for this article.

For Alphabet, any play at significant expansion in China would bring unique challenges. Its major money-making activities, such as search and video, run up against the Communist Party's controls on information in a way that online shopping, for instance, does not.

Google would have to overcome a lack of name recognition among young Chinese. And it would face a tough fight against homegrown incumbents with Silicon Valley-like money to burn — including in areas like self-driving cars, in which Alphabet is arguably the global leader.

Waymo's company registration in China still puts it a long way from having wheels on the road. Its Shanghai subsidiary has an initial capitalisation of about $500,000. A visit on Friday to the address listed on its registration filing turned up only a cramped, unmarked office, empty but for some simple furniture. Even with more investment, Waymo's place in the Chinese market is hardly assured.
